Alternative programs cut crime, cut costs and build communities.

Cut Crime

Research on state recidivism rates has shown that by placing appropriate offenders in community programs under supervision reduces the potential for revocation and return to incarceration. By supporting this return to law abiding behavior, recidivism is reduced and public safety is enhanced.

Cut Costs

Effective reentry policies save money and make better use of limited resources by establishing a more coordinated and comprehensive continuum of care and supervision. Even small reductions in recidivism rates will generate substantial cost-savings by avoiding more costly incarceration. DRC programs operate at a fraction of the cost of a prison bed.

Build Communities

CSI is committed to strengthening the connection between community and individuals. DRC programs allow clients to reenter the workforce, to be parents, and to play a role in strengthening their families and neighborhoods.

"We need to successfully transition offenders from the prison rolls to the tax rolls. The greatest benefit to criminal justice agencies and communities is the promise of reduced recidivism and improved public safety."

CSI funding representative (CA)*
